ROSY OUTLOOK AT THE SHOE FACTORY

CUTTERS ARE GOING TO WORK AND WILL BE FOLLOWED BY OTHERS.

WORKING ON SAMPLES NOW

Will Specialize on Children's Footwear in Big Factory—Little Shop Will Be Started Later Under the Name of Dixon Shoe Company.

In our issue of January 14th we failed to note correctly the increased capitalization of the Dixon Shoe Co. The Dixon Shoe Co. is an organization that has been in existence for ten years, stock having been owned by the Watson Plummer Shoe Co., the Dixon Shoe Co., representing a connection with the jobbing trade. The capital of the Dixon Shoe Co. has now been increased by authority from Springfield, under date of Jan. 14th, to $30,000. Its property consists of the one story factory and block on First St., and it is incorporated for the manufacturing of work shoes to sell to the wholesale trade, and as soon as the detail arrangements of this organization are completed this factory will begin operations on heavy shoes in time, it is hoped, for next spring's business.

The Red School House Shoe Co., a corporation with capital stock of $300,000, purchased the properties of the Watson Plummer Shoe Co., which consists of the plant at Dixon, trade marks, good will and operations by the Red School House Shoe Co. have begun and stock is being received. Cutters will be put to work in a few days, which will be followed by taking on help in other departments and the preliminary work will be accomplished for the coming season's business, the manufacture of samples, some special goods for customers of the old company, and such other business as may naturally come to the new organization on the well known line of the Red School House Shoes.

Children's Shoes a Specialty.

It is the intention of the Red School House Shoe Co. to specialize in the manufacturing of shoes for Boys and Girls. This should result greatly to the advantage of the company. To avail themselves as they do of this trade mark line and with the economies that can be practiced in specializing and the reduced cost of disposing of their products, there is every reason to believe that a successful and growing business employing a large number of people can be established in Dixon. It is particularly fortunate for the Red School House Shoe Co. that the plants and properties of the Watson Plummer Shoe Co., which they succeed to, are in such excellent condition physically, and that in the liquidation of the old company the high credit that it maintained during its existence has been continued and extended to the new. The acquisition and addition of a few small unit electric motors here and there, for power purposes is practically all that the plant requires, as the shoe making part of the proposition is up to the minute.

Everything U-to-Date.

Models from its lasts, dies and patterns established last season by the Watson Plummer Shoe Co. are pronounced by the trade as being just what they want today, thus requiring but slight expense to rehabilitate.

Register for Employees.

A register has been established at the office of the company to take the names of the applicants for work in the various departments, and as each department is opened and help required, it is expected to select the most efficient and give them employment.

This time of year is an 'off season' for a shoe manufacturing concern, and all the activities at the factories from now until spring will be confined to the turning out of samples, but this work will amount to considerable and will employ a respectable number of men, the number growing as the work demands increase.

Lockport, Ill., Jan. 14.—(Special to the Telegraph.)—An error in the recent report of the Illinois and Michigan Canal Commission, which asks the state legislature for an appropriation of one million dollars to be used in enlarging and improving the old canal, was discovered and corrected today at the commission's office. Through a mechanical mistake the 29 mile feeder of the Hennepin canal, which extends from Sterling on the Rock river to the main canal near Sheffield without a lock or a change in level, was dropped out of the waterway map on the back of the booklet.

Today the canal commissioners sent out a letter to each recipient of the booklet, calling attention to the omission and to the importance of this navigable feeder. They say that it is one of the best strips of canal in the state, and is probably more frequently used at the present time by cargo carriers than any other.

Two large grain elevators are situated on this feeder and are now shipping grain out by barge through out the season to the trans-shipping points on the Illinois river. In the event that the Illinois & Michigan canal were enlarged to the same size as the Hennepin, practically all of this grain would go through to Chicago markets by barge. When the advantages of coal traffic are fully appreciated and certain mechanical difficulties overcome, the people of Sterling and vicinity will undoubtedly make use of this feeder in reaching the main canal, the Illinois river and Lake Michigan.

CANDIDATES FOR PARK COMMISSION

DIXON CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION NOMINATES GOOD MEN.

FOR TOWNSHIP PARK COM.

Howell, McMahon, Dixon, Vaile and Crabtree Are Trustworthy and Capable—No Other Names Have Been Offered.

The Citizens' association, having promoted the establishing of a Park District to embrace all of the Township of Dixon and being directly responsible for having an election called to vote upon the proposition, of necessity feel a great responsibility in connection with the matter.

It realizes that, for the proper execution of the proposed work a strong commission should be elected. The commission must be composed of men of known ability and integrity, who are in sympathy with the objects of the Park District, but who will at the same time be conservative in administration.

The association has awaited for some days for the announcing of the names of candidates on the board, hoping that it would not be necessary for it to suggest the names of any candidates, but no announcements have yet been made and it feels, in view of the near approach of the election, that the candidates should be in the field.

It has therefore obtained the consent of five of our representative business and professional men to submit their names and present them herewith, namely:

E. N. HOWELL
WM. B. McMAHAN,
HENRY S. DIXON
EDWARD VAILE,
JOHN B. CRABTREE.

These names are not presented in any spirit of attempted dictation. On the contrary the association, as an association, feels that if any other men of equal attainments shall be candidates it will welcome the election of whichever ones shall be the victors, in the event that there is any contest over the matter.

The association attempts to represent and stand for all that is for the best for Dixon. It never has and never will enter into any partisan matters or attempt to discriminate between citizens of equal merit. It simply desires to promote the welfare, happiness and best interests of all our people.

Therefore, in the event that no other candidates of equal standing and ability are presented, it submits as its selection the men whose names are given above.

It vouches for their high standing, for their sympathy with the subject matter and for a capable and yet economical administration in the event of their election.

CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION OF DIXON.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION IN TUNNEL TODAY

1912 FIRE LOSS IN DIXON WAS $7,300

CHIEF COFFEY PREPARES ANNUAL REPORT—RESPONDED TO 58 ALARMS.

The loss caused by fires in Dixon during 1912 was $7,300, according to the figures prepared by Fire Chief Thomas Coffey. His report shows the department responded to 58 alarms during the year and that the amount of insurance carried on the threatened property was $139,750.

A comparison with the report of the Sterling chief is interesting, in that Sterling has recently purchased a new auto truck and the insurance rates there have been reduced. The Sterling department had but 36 alarms during the year, 22 less than Dixon, while the loss there was $7,000. The amount of insurance carried on the threatened property in Sterling was $133,512.

DR. C. H. BOKHOF'S MOTHER IS DEAD

PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY AT HOME IN ROCK CITY—FUNERAL THURSDAY

Mrs. Amelia Eggert Bokhof, mother of Dr. C. H. Bokhof of this city, passed away at her home in Rock City, Ill., yesterday at the age of 63 years. Mrs. Bokhof was one of the most highly esteemed women of the county and her death will be keenly felt by hosts of friends as well as by the immediate relatives. She was a prominent member of the Evangelical church, with which she became affiliated 43 years ago and in which organization she was always most interested.

Mrs. Bokhof was born in Rock Grove township Feb. 24, 1850. In 1872 she was married to Herman Bokhof and five children came to bless their union. One daughter, Lulu, died in 1901 at the age of 16 years. Her surviving children are Dr. C. H. Bokhof, Dixon; Mrs. Nellie Graham and Mrs. Elita Young of DuRand and Mrs. Flora Graham of Rock City. She also leaves three brothers, John, Daniel and David Eggert, and two sisters, Louise and Ida Eggert of Davis. Six grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday from the late home and burial will take place in Bethlehem cemetery.

BRYAN DEATH TO BE A MYSTERY

EVERY INDICATION THAT COMMUNITY WILL NOT KNOW THE CAUSE.

Sterling Gazette: It is now possible and highly probable that the people of Whiteside county will never know what caused the death of Leon and Bryan. This is simply due to the fact that the Whiteside county board of supervisors has generally refused to pay the bills that officers of the law made in chasing criminals. The records show this, and the county papers have time after time called attention to it.

Is Dumping Ground. Constables and others were never anxious to chase criminals in the county for the reason that they knew their bills would be slashed, and one time the constables even refused to take state warrants, for the simple reason that bills for the work was ignored or slashed.

Supervisors to Blame. The result is that Whiteside county is made a dumping ground for the criminals, as they know that the county will slash the bills made out by constables for their work.

MRS. CHAS. HENRY IS RECOVERING RAPIDLY

DRUNKEN WOMAN AROUSED DISTRUST

WOMAN WITH 13-YEAR OLD GIRL TAKEN FROM TRAIN HERE LAST NIGHT.

Local authorities were of the opinion this morning that they had stumbled onto a white-slavery case, when they began investigating the story told by Mrs. Thomas Williamson who says her home is in Rock Island and who was put off the northbound I. C. passenger train last evening for drunkenness.

When the woman was put off the train she was accompanied by a 13-year old girl whom she said was her daughter, whose conflicting stories aroused suspicion on the part of the officers. However, they were unable to discover anything that would warrant holding the woman and she as released this afternoon.

The woman, who said she resided with her husband and four children at 1616 Ninth street, Rock Island, according to her story, left home yesterday morning bound for Freeport, where they expected to visit a Dr. Beverly; afterwards she said they intended to go to Columbus, O., to visit her son.

She got liquor in LaSalle, it appears, and took a flask of whisky on the train with her, the result being that she was beastly intoxicated before arriving at Dixon. While the authorities were not fully satisfied with the appearance of things, they had nothing to warrant holding the people here and they were allowed to go to Freeport this afternoon.

Incidentally Ward called at the headquarters of the Chicago National League club and signed his contract for the next year. Ward expects to be the regular center fielder of Evers' team, and it is hard to figure that any of the other candidates can beat him out.

ART EXHIBIT AT N. DIXON SCHOOL

DISPLAY OF CARBONS AND PHOTOGRAPHES JANUARY 31 AND FEBRUARY 1.

PROCEEDS FOR DECORATIONS

Exhibition Will Be by Boston Company and Picture Will Be Bought for School.

Recognizing the educational value to be derived from opportunities to see good art, the North Dixon schools have arranged with the A. W. Elson company of Boston for an art exhibition of a large number of pictures, to be held at the new school building, North Dixon, the evening of Friday, Jan. 31, and during the whole day of Saturday, Feb. 1st.

This collection consists of carbons and photographes made directly from the original masterpieces. It is selected by art experts and will attract large crowds of people. An admission fee will be charged, the entire proceeds of which, after deducting the expense of the exhibit, will be used in the purchase of pictures for wall decoration of the different rooms of the N. Dixon schools.

The purpose of the display of pictures is twofold. First, to give people an opportunity to see a collection of the world's famous masterpieces of painting, sculpture and architecture. Second, to make it possible for our local schools to own more of these good pictures.

Why should this exhibit interest you?

Because, throughout the country people are awakening to the importance and value of good art as creative of refining influence and inspiring atmosphere; and just so surely as people become familiar with the best in art, just so quickly will the crude in art be displaced through appreciation of something better. It is of course, idle to suppose that one shall become a competent judge of art simply through studying for a time photographs or prints. But what can and should be obtained is a large measure of appreciation. A work of art which it really great will bar reproduction and even though this may not have the pleasure giving power of the original in a gallery three thousand miles away, that measure of power which it does possess is well worth taking. Suppose we have pondered over some masterpiece until we know it literally by heart and can see it with our eyes shut, with all its impressive harmony of light and shade. Should we not be passing rich? And it can be done.

Anyone who cares to do it can accumulate gradually a little picture gallery of this sort in his own head quite independent of circumstances of time, place, or money.

One of our leading art critics, John C. VanDyke, says: 'You must look at pictures studiously, earnestly and honestly. It will take years before you can come to a full appreciation of them, but, when at last you have, you will be possessed of one of the purest, loftiest and most ennobling pleasures that the world can offer you.'

This collection has been made by experts. Every artist who knows how to draw has something to give of pleasure and profit, but the greatest have the most and best to give.

What constitutes an artist? He is in the first place, one who knows how to see, and in the second place one who has a gift for making us see with him.

In conjunction with the exhibition of art will be given a program of music by pupils of N. Dixon schools, Friday evening, from 7:30 to 10:30. This will be under the management of Mrs. Muriel Price Phelps, music supervisor of the schools of Dixon.

NO PLACE FOR AGED MAN

Uncle Ranny Ramsey, Who Is Palsied, Must Be Kept Away From All Auctions.

"In the morning of our existence," philosophically remarked the Erratic Thinker, "when life stretches away and away ahead of us, and we scamper on supple, care-free legs through flowery dells, and all that, how little we reck that the first thing we know we will be in the midst of golden noon when the shadows fall neither to the right nor to the left. And oftsoon, with weary, stiffened limbs and defective hearing, we'll set out to promenade on the railroad track three minutes before train time. Then, let us be considerate of the aged and not let them know how much smarter we are than they were at our age, and—but you have no idea how much engineering it takes on my part to keep my old Uncle Ranny Ramsey from attending every blamed auction he hears of, since his palsied got so bad. You see, he sits there and bobs his poor old head and then sharp auctioneers knock down to him everything they can't sell to anybody else, claiming he bid on it. And it kind o' flatters the old man to think he is back in the hooraw of business life again, and so they make it stick."

WATER PORTERS OF QUITO

They Carry Big Earthen Jars on Their Backs and Bowing, Create a Cataract.

Around a fountain in one of the principal squares of Quito assemble every morning the city's aguadores. These water porters differ from the less energetic ones of some South American cities in carrying their jars upon their backs instead of on the backs of mules. Their earthen jars are deep, have a wide mouth, and hold about 40 liters.

The porter carries it on his shoulder fastened with leather straps. He never detaches himself from his jar either to fill it or to transfer its contents to that of his customer.

He turns his back to the fountain so that the jar comes under one of the jets of water, listens to the sound of the water in the jar, and his ear is so well trained that he always walks away at the exact moment when it is filled to the brim.

Arriving at the house of a customer, he goes to the household jar, makes a deep bow, and disappears behind a torrent of water. Foreigners can never receive, without laughing, the visit of their aguador, the respectful little man who bows to one behind a cataract of water.

HEAD COVERED WITH WHITE PIMPLES

Went to Ear, Shoulders and Whole Body. Thick and Sticky on Head. Eruption Covered With Blood. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Ransom, Ill.—"The trouble started on our baby when he was only about two weeks old. Started like little white pimples, looked like an old scab of blood and matter. His whole head was covered for a few months then it went to his ear, shoulders, and his whole body. It seemed to come out thick and sticky on his head, while on the other parts of his body it was more like water coming out of the skin. He would scratch until the eruption would be all covered with blood and gradually spread. The least little stir or rub would cause the sores to bleed, spread and itch. Never had a full night's sleep, restless all night."

"The sores were horrid to look at. It lasted until he was about two and a half years old. Then we saw an eczema advertisement in the paper to use —, but it did no good. Then we used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. We put the Cuticura Ointment on thick at bed time and put a tight hood on so he could not scratch the sores. Then we washed it clean with Cuticura Soap and warm water twice a day, and he was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. E. F. Sulzberger, Dec. 30, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

* Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Tony is now in the county jail awaiting a hearing before Magistrate Kent.

WHEN YOUR CHILD GETS CONSTIPATED

CLEANSE ITS LITTLE LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS WITH "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's insides, the stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels, are clogged up with putrifying waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When your child is listless, drooping, doesn't sleep soundly or eat heartily, or is cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a very few hours all the foul, constipated, waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you surely will have a well, happy and smiling child again.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, sena and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regular needed. A little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Goose Hollow Letter

Hank Purdy started last week gettin' in right condition for St. Patrick's day.

A magazine containin' several pages of readin' matter is on exhibition down at the news stand.

A man blew in here last week and made a lot of money lettin' people look through his telescope at the moon, until Set Perkins discovered that he had focused it onto a gas lamp.

Postmaster Tibbitts now claims he has been a democrat for 40 years and that he voted for Wilson, but Lem Hanks says somebody else will be lickin' the postage stamps in that postoffice the next four years. Lem was one of the original Wilson men, havin' give Wilson his support bright and early the morning after election.

Miss Euphemia Perkins, our poetess of passion, has give up writin' for the magazines and has taken up the less artistic, but more profitable, advertisin' business. Her work is now published all over this country, but without any signature. She ain't doin' much in the way of fame, but is eatin' three times a day, which is more to the point. Some of her recent efforts follow:

'Jim Hanks was always gruntin' round, beset by many ills, He'd tried most every brand of dope, includin' all the pills.

He was so very poorly he could not work very much, His wife she had to hustle for the breakfast food and such. He tried Doc Bibbins' remedy one day along last fall, And now he is a happy man—he can not work at all.'

DISTRESSED SHIP LOST

Abbessinia Breaks Tow Line and Fog Engulfs Her.

Freighter With a Crew of 40 Aboard Drifting Helpless at Sea—Ships to the Rescue.

New York, Jan. 15.—The officials of the Hamburg-American Steamship company received a wireless from the steamship Minnetonka of the Atlantic transport line that their ship, the Tisa, was proceeding to the assistance of the steamship Abbessinia, and expected to reach her before nightfall. The position of the Abbessinia is given as about 300 miles southeast of Sable Island. The Tisa left New York January 2 and the Minnetonka is due here today.

Wireless messages received from the agents of the White Star line in Halifax earlier in the day said the steamship Canada reported she had intercepted the wireless of the steamship Armenian and read that the Armenian had the Abbessinia in tow, but that she had lost her again in the fog later in the day.

The Abbessinia is a freighter with a crew of 40. She carries no passengers.

Should his explanation not prove satisfactory to Judge Carpenter the bonds in all probability will be set aside and the pugilist remanded to jail to await trial.

Much Like Human Life.

A tree does not die of old age. It accumulates infirmities with the years and has many diseases. It may starve or die of thirst; caterpillars may eat its foliage, scale bugs suck its juices, beetles tunnel under the bark, scab, rust, molds, rot, blight, may prey upon it. The wind is also an enemy. Peeling the bark of the birch does not kill it. The lumbering season is over when the sap begins to stream upward, as wood cut "in the sap" is liable to decay. A sugar maple in three weeks yields of its life's blood to the extent of 25 gallons (70 drops falling every minute), which boils down to a little less than five pounds of sugar. The trees are not injured if properly treated, nor exhausted by being bored too much or at the wrong time.

Ivory Smuggling.

Ivory smuggling is looked upon as a very serious crime in British East Africa, and this is only as it should be, for, in order to secure the ivory, the traders have to kill great numbers of elephants. The game preservation laws, particularly as regards elephants, are most severe, and woe betide the man who is caught breaking the game regulations or in possession of illicit spoils of the chase.

The smuggling of ivory, therefore, is treated in the same manner as smuggling gems and clothing into the United States, illicit diamond buying in South Africa, or other forms of smuggling in England. The rigid laws, however, do not prevent the Arabs and Indians from indulging in an illegal trade in ivory on a large scale.

SURELY BANISHES CATARRH

Where there's catarrh there's thousands of catarrh germs. You can't get rid of catarrh unless you kill these germs.

You can't kill them with stomach medicine or sprays because they can't get where germs are.

You can kill these germs with Booth's HYOMEI, a penetrating, antiseptic, balsamic air that you breathe a few times daily, directly over the raw, sore, germ infested membrane. It does not contain morphine or any habit forming drug.

For catarrh, croup, coughs, and colds, HYOMEI is sold on money back plan by Rowland Bros. Complete outfit, $1.00. Extra bottles of Booth's HYOMEI if afterwards needed, only 50 cents. Just breathe it—no stomach dosing.

BEST FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR AN ITCHING SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DANDERINE DESTROYS DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR AT ONCE—GROWS HAIR, WE PROVE IT.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

LATEST WHIM OF JANITOR

Mrs. Audley Learns He Is "Superintendent" and Sees People Only by Appointment.

Mrs. Audley, who had moved into a new apartment, was driven to the verge of distraction by the persistent failure of the janitor to perform certain services which were essential to the comfort of herself and her family. One morning when her indignation had reached the boiling point she telephoned to the basement.

"I want to speak to the janitor," she announced emphatically.

"Do you mean the superintendent?" inquired the voice of a woman at the other end of the wire.

"I mean the janitor; but if calling him 'the superintendent' makes him do his work more promptly—the superintendent."

"The superintendent ain't in his apartment at the present moment," replied the voice, with unmistakable haughtiness.

"Are you the ja—superintendent's wife?" telephoned Mrs. Audley.

"I am Mrs. Macbeth, the wife of the superintendent," admitted the voice.

"Well, I am Mrs. Audley. Please send your husband to me as soon as possible. There are things that must be done in my apartment, and that it was his business to have done days ago, and I want. What? busy? He may just as well be busy doing the work I require as the work required by anybody else in the house," said Mrs. Audley hotly. "So, please tell him to come to my apartment without further delay."

"The superintendent never sees nobody except by special appointment," came the voice from the basement.

"Oh," murmured Mrs. Audley, and hanging up the receiver, sat down to laugh.

Magic of the Rainbow.

The rainbow shimmering high in the heavens is more than a mere arch of glowing colors. It is a royal ambassador from the kingdom of nature, a herald bearing a message of vast importance to mankind. Written upon its brilliantly-hued, shining archway is a truth that man has finally appreciated after the countless ages that have passed since the first rainbow glorified the heavens. And this truth is what? Nothing less than the revelation of the component elements that constitute the sun and stars and the dim-shining nebulae lost in the farthest hiding places of the universe. By means of this truth, written large upon the raindrops, we know more about the composition of the sun, 92,000,000 miles from the earth, than we do about the world on which we dwell.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

TWENTY WORDS IN THE LEAD

Cleveland Lawyer's New Stenographer Kept Well Ahead of Him When He Dictated.

A Cleveland corporation lawyer has a new stenographer—the second new one in a week. Strange to say, he didn't discharge the first one because she was incompetent, but because she was too good. Let him tell it. "This girl came to me well recommended, and when I dictated a test letter, I found her extremely rapid and accurate. So I employed her on the spot. She fell right in with the work, and I decided that I had found a treasure. But on the third day she gave me a shock.

"I was dictating an opinion in a complicated infringement suit, and it was very important that it should be accurate in every word and phrase. This was the third draft I had written, in fact. At one place I interrupted myself and said to the stenographer:

"Am I speaking too fast for you, Miss Jackson? Are you getting my words down correctly?"

"Oh, I'm getting them all right," she answered, smiling. "And you don't speak nearly as fast as I can take. I'm about twenty words ahead of you now!"

"There's such a thing as being too good."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WAR IS RENEWED; ALLIES END TRUCE

Balkan Envoys at London Peace Congress to Make Belligerent Move.

EXPECT TURKEY WILL FIGHT

Commanders of Forces Before Adrianople Will Be Ordered to Resume Operations, Which Ceased December 3—Turk Loan Due.

London, Jan. 15.—The decision definitely to break up the peace conference in London simultaneously with the presentation to the Turkish government of the note of the European powers was reached here by the chiefs of the peace delegations of the Balkan allies.

The threatening note is to be worded in such a way that it will become effective only in the event of the Ottoman government refusing compliance with the advice given to it by the ambassadors of the European powers.

The latest advice received by the Turkish delegates show that the Ottoman grand council has not yet at Constantinople and that it probably will not meet. The Turkish envoys understand that Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier, will in all probability resign should the situation develop in such a way that the grand council will be called together. Observers of the situation in London express the opinion that Turkey will reject the advice of the European powers and that hostilities will be resumed.

The representatives of the Balkan allies declare that they are ready to face all events. They say that no fewer than 400,000 of their troops are concentrated around the fortress of Adrianople and along the lines of Tchatalla, while all the heavy siege batteries have been placed in position before Adrianople.

Think War Threat Is Needed.

The members of the Balkan league are of opinion that the note drafted by the European diplomats is so diluted that it requires the admixture of a vitalizing tonic, and this, they think, will be supplied by their threat to continue hostilities.

The resolution of the representatives of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Serbia will be communicated to the porte in a formal note.

At the same time it was decided to instruct the commanders of the armed forces of the allies in the field to terminate the armistice which has been in operation since December 3.

Big Turkish Loan Due.

The funds in the Ottoman treasury are insufficient to meet the coupon of the Turkish five per cent. loan of 1896, which is due now, but the Imperial Ottoman bank has made arrangements to assure its payment. The loan amounted to $14,876,000, and the amount outstanding as undischarged is $13,276,000.

WOTHERSPOON O. K.'D

Senate Confirms His Nomination as Major General.

Senator Root Introduces a Measure to Repeal Toll Clause of Panama Canal Bill.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The senate spent more than two hours in executive session discussing army appointments by President Taft, and confirmed the nomination of W. E. Wotherspoon to his major general. Opposition to his confirmation was led by Senator Bristow, chiefly because Wotherspoon had been advanced over the heads of Gen. Fred Funston of Kansas and other officers higher on the list than Wotherspoon.

Senator Root introduced a bill to repeal the toll clause of the Panama canal bill, so as to prevent discrimination in favor of American ships.

Senator Pomerene offered a resolution to amend the Constitution with respect to impeachment cases.

Senator Gore introduced a bill increasing the membership of the Supreme court of the United States from nine to eleven members, and making seven a quorum.

LIKELY TO DEFEAT WARREN

John B. Kendrick May Win U. S. Senatorship From Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 15.—The legislature voted with little respect for party lines, with the result that John B. Kendrick, Democrat, will probably defeat Frances E. Warren, Republican, the present incumbent, for the United States senate. Indications are that the result for senator on joint ballot will be: Kendrick, 45; Warren, 41. B. L. Pratt, Republican, was elected speaker, with the aid of the solid Democratic vote.

Rail Men Demand Sliding Scale.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company is facing a demand by its conductors and trainmen for the establishment of a sliding scale, a minimum rate of pay based on distance traveled, a schedule for overtime and changes in road regulations and yard service.

INSTALL NEW FURNACE
IN HARMON SCHOOL

Early in the fall a new furnace was installed in the Harmon school building, but it is thought the one installed is too small to heat the rooms in very cold weather, so one of large enough size to heat a barn will be installed. The old furnace will be used by one of the residents of Harmon who is erecting a new house.

THANHOUSER PLANT
BURNED TO GROUND

The plant of the Thanhouse Motion Picture company at New Rochelle, N. Y., was destroyed by fire yesterday. The buildings and equipment were valued at a quarter million dollars. The company is the one that has furnished so many excellent feature pictures for the Princess theatre of this city, but it is probable that the buildings will soon be rebuilt so that the film service will not be seriously interfered with.

COMMON FAULT OF HUMANITY

Probably Condition of Absolute Satisfaction Never Yet Been Absolutely Arrived At.

Man is a curious animal. He is never satisfied. When we say "man," we mean men and women—the same that God created in his own image.

Restlessness is a common attribute of humanity. It begins with the cradle. It never ceases until we reach the grave. The only quiet man is the dead man.

The school becomes irksome to the boy and it requires all the pressure of the parent to keep him at his studies. He thinks he knows better than father or mother. They point out the need of an education if he would succeed. He replies that he has two hands and a brain and that he can make his own living in his own way. Sometimes he tries it. When he fails, in the bitterness of his soul he recalls with repentance his refusal to his parents.

The girl, willful and headstrong, accepts questionable company. She neglects the church for the Sunday picnic and gives up the Bible for the sensational, silly and romantic novel. She wants a change. She must have it. She will have it. Finally she has it, and perhaps repents in tears and unspeakable anguish.

The patient who does not immediately recover wants to try another physician, other remedies or a change of climate. The doctor may warn against the danger they invite, but the restless soul cries out for a change. It takes the chances of life and death, and with the latter comes the greatest of all changes in the stillness of the grave.—John A. Slicker, in Leslie's Weekly.

Mr. Dykeman spent the day in Nelson.

MINSTREL SEATS GO
LIKE HOT CAKES

TWO PACKED HOUSES TO GREET PERFORMERS—MAY TAKE SHOW TO AMBOY.

The seat sale for the Elks' Minstrels, which will be given at the opera house Monday and Tuesday evenings, opened with a rush at Campbell's drug store this morning and the number of seats that were reserved during the morning hours indicate that two packed houses will greet the performers.

And the progress that has been made in the rehearsals is a criterion that the patrons of the show will be given a performance of merit. The members of the company have become proficient in their work, and several surprises await those who attend the shows.

There is a strong probability that the company will go to Amboy next Wednesday night to present their performance. A number of the members of the local lodge reside in Amboy, and they have asked the management to take the show to that city, promising a full house. The advisability of this course is being considered by the committee in charge.

ASKS FOR U.S. GUNBOAT

American Ambassador to Mexico Appeals For Aid.

Wires Washington to Send Warship to Acapulco to Protect Foreigners From 2,000 Rebels.

Mexico, Jan. 15.—The American ambassador wired Washington for an American gunboat to go to Acapulco to protect foreigners.

Two thousand rebels are reported in possession of the coast district.

Private advices from Vera Cruz say that an alleged anti-government plot has been discovered there to create excitement, break into jail and kill Gen. Felix Diaz and the other political prisoners who have been locked up there for nearly two months.

With Acapulco and Vera Cruz besieged by rebel forces and another band of insurgents near enough to Mexico City effectually to prevent the withdrawal of any of the federal garrison there, President Madero, according to state department dispatches, appeared to be between two fires.

The advices from Consul Edwards at Acapulco detailed the raids of 2,000 rebels near by and added that foreigners were seeking refuge in the city. Vera Cruz reported substantially the same situation. Demands having been made for the protection of foreign plantations and ranches in these sections, it is thought that Madero will withdraw some of his troops from Chihuahua, thus leaving that district again open to the rebels' advance.

GOOD PUZZLE TO WORK OUT

Occupation in Enforced Idleness Is Good Test of One's Knowledge of the Bible.

Evidently the matter of occupation when one is confined indoors is a problem to the Swiss as well as to other people. The Bonne Revue comes forward with an answer to the question: "What are we to do indoors?" Instead of bemoaning the inclement weather it says people should solve the following problem:

Divide the number of Job's camels before they were captured by the Chaldeans by the number of men sent to take Jeremiah out of the dungeon; add to the quotient the number of lords entertained at Balthazar's feast. Subtract from the sum the number of just persons who could have saved Sodom. Multiply by David's age when he commenced to reign. Divide by the number of Philistines that Samson slew with the ass's jawbone. Subtract the number of Solomon's songs; multiply by the number of days during which Job did not speak to his friends. Subtract the number of fish taken in the miracle of Jesus fishing. Add to the result the number of prophets hidden by Abdias. Subtract the number of ungrateful lepers healed by Jesus, and you will have a mysterious figure contained in the Apocalypse.

Logic of Phocion.

Why tell me that a man is a fine speaker if it is not the truth that he is speaking? Phocion, who did not speak at all, was a great deal nearer hitting the mark than Demosthenes.

He used to tell the Athenians—"You can't fight Philip. You have not the slightest chance with him. He is a man who holds his tongue; he has great disciplined armies; he can brag anybody you like in your cities here; and he is going on steadily with an unvarying aim toward his object; and he will infallibly beat any kind of men such as you, going on raging from shore to shore with all that rampant nonsense."

Demosthenes said to him one day—"The Athenians will get mad some day and kill you." Yes, Phocion said, "When they are mad; and you as soon as they get sane again."—Thomas Carlyle.

One That He Forgot.

Two black-faced minstrels were giving an entertainment on the sands of a certain seaside holiday resort recently. While one of them was telling funny stories about the humors of boarding house landladies, the other went among the crowd making a collection. He at length went up to a stern looking woman, who promptly snatched the tambourine from his hand and poured the contents into her lap. As she returned the empty tambourine to the astonished minstrel she exclaimed: "Tell your friend who knows so much about landladies that I'm the one he forgot to pay the last time he was here!"—Weekly Telegraph.

Salaries of Naval Officers.

The pay of commissioned officers in the navy varies with rank and length of service, and there are numerous other factors which must be taken into account. The amount received in individual cases may be worked out by a study of the regulations contained in the Navy Register, which is obtainable in any well-equipped public library. The commander of a vessel of the naval auxiliary service would not be correctly called a "captain," but "master." The rates of pay of this class of officers are not set forth in the Navy Register, since they are not regularly commissioned officers of the navy.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN REGULATES STOMACH

TIME IT! IN FIVE MINUTES THE GAS, SOURNESS, HEARTBURN, AND INDIGESTION MISERY IS GONE.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so that you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition, so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eruptions of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

DOG IN OLD CISTERN FOR THIRTEEN DAYS

Galena, Jan. 13.—A fox terrier puppy, belonging to Leroy Kraechmer of Park avenue, disappeared thirteen days ago and yesterday it was found at the bottom of an old cistern near the Kraechmer home.

The animal had been given up as lost until yesterday some boys who were playing on the hill heard weak moans which evidently came from the well. Assistance was secured and the animal brought to the surface, still alive but so emaciated that it seemed beyond belief that it could survive. The fact that it lived for thirteen days in the well is proof of the extraordinary vitality of this breed of dogs. The canine is still alive and fast gaining strength.

Dramatic Notes

VAUDEVILLE AT OPERA HOUSE starts Thursday of this week with extra high class bill. Bankhoff & Watts, dancers, are different from anything seen in Dixon. Miss Teresa Miller, singing comedienne, has just finished a tour of the Miles Taster Vaudeville and theatres, with special pictures will make up a very pleasing show.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Friday night you will see the most startling, stupendous and thrilling picture ever shown at the Princess. 'At the Risk of His Life' is a story of love's great sacrifice, showing the most daring act ever conceived by human brain. Flirting with death a thousand feet above the Hudson river, exploding 120 pounds of dynamite in a balloon and dropping in a parachute through a seething mass of flames to safety.

The New York Times says: Nothing like the stunt performed by Dare Devil Law for the International Feature Film company has ever before been attempted, and that Law is still among the living is nothing short of miraculous.

'Wonder Vaudeville' will be the offering at the Palace Music hall, Chicago's newest theatre, when Jesse L. Lasky's 'Trained Nurses' will occupy the feature position for week of Jan. 20th.

The Trained Nurses is quite the most charming of all Lasky's musical productions, the book being by Wm. LeBaron, author of The Antique Girl, and the music by Leo Edwards, the well known song writer, the lyrics by Blanche Merrill, Clark & Bergman, two celebrated vaudevillians of more than usual ability are the featured players of a company of 20. There are seven pleasing musical numbers during the progress of the piece and many beautiful costumes are shown, the wedding finale being one of the prettiest pictures ever mounted for the vaudeville stage.

Danile Frohman also has heard he call of the 'two a day' and his first venture is the production of a lever little drama called 'Detective' in which Arthur Hoops sustains the leading part.

Slivers, the famous clown, the very sight of pantomime excellence is in the bill in his really remarkably arce, The Ball Game.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Meeting.

Hamlin's first impulse was to ignore the note, trusting his position in the ranks would be sufficient barrier to prevent any chance meeting, and believing his stay at that garrison would be only a brief one. Sheridan was evidently preparing for an early offensive campaign, and it was rumored on all sides that the Seventh Cavalry had been selected for active field service. Indeed, the urgent orders for the consolidation of the regiment from scattered posts must mean this. Any day might bring orders, and he could easily avoid this Mrs. Dupont until then. Except for a faint curiosity, the Sergeant felt no inclination to meet the woman. Whatever influence she might have once exercised over him had been thoroughly overcome by years and absence. Even the unexpected sight of her again—seemingly as beautiful as ever—had failed to awaken the spell of the past. It was almost with a thrill of delight that Hamlin realized this—that he was in truth utterly free of her influence. There had been times when he had anticipated such a possible meeting with dread; when he had doubted his own heart, the strength of his will to resist. But now he knew he stood absolutely independent and could laugh at her wiles. She who had once been all-trusted, loved, worshipped with all the mad fervor of youth—had become only a dead memory. Between them stretched a chasm never to be bridged.

What could the woman possibly want of him? To explain the past? To justify herself? He knew enough already, and desired to know no more. Could she hope—natural coquette that she was—to regain her hold upon him? The man smiled grimly, confident of his own strength. Yet why should she care for such a conquest, the winning of a common soldier? There must be some better reason, some more subtle purpose. Could it be that she feared him, that she was afraid that he might speak to her injury? This was by far the most likely supposition. Molly McDonald—the woman was aware of their acquaintance, and was already alarmed at its possible result.

Hamlin stood up resolved. He would meet the woman, not from any desire of his own, but to learn her purpose, and protect the girl. The meeting could not injure him, not even bring a swifter beating of the heart, but might give him opportunity to serve the other. And Le Fevre—surely she could tell him something of Le Fevre.

Leave was easily obtained, and the Sergeant, rejoicing in a freshly issued uniform, dressed with all the care possible, his interest reviving at this new point of view. It was not far down the bluff road to the squalid little village which had naturally developed in close proximity to the fort—near enough for protection, yet far enough removed to be lawless—a rough frontier outpost town, of shacks and tents, most of these dispensing vile liquors. Among these, more enterprising spirits—hopeful of future development—had erected larger buildings, usually barn-like, with false fronts facing the single main street, filled with miscellaneous stocks of goods or used for purposes not so legitimate. One of these housed the "Poodle Dog" saloon, with gambling rooms above, while a few doors below was a great dance hall, easily converted into a theater if occasion arose—a grotesque, one-storied monstrosity. Below these was the stage office, built against the three-storied wooden hotel, which boasted of a wide porch on two sides, and was a picture of ugliness.

By daylight all was squalor and dirt, dingy tents flapping in the ceaseless wind, unpainted shacks, wooden houses with boards warping under the hot sun, the single street deep in yellow dust, the surrounding prairie littered with tin cans, and all manner of debris. But with the coming of night much of this roughness departed. Soldiers from the garrison on pass, idle plainsmen, bull-whackers, adventurers of all kinds stranded here because of Indian activity, stray cowboys from the nearby valleys, thronged the numerous dives, seeking excitement. Women, gaudy of dress, shrill of voice, fitted from door to door through the jostling crowds. Lamps blazed over the motley assembly, loud-voiced barkers yelled, and a band added its discord to the din. The "Poodle Dog" glared in light, resounded with noise; lamps gleamed from the hotel windows, and the huge dance hall stood wide open. Out from the shacks and tents crept the day's sleepers for a night of revelry; along the trails rode others eager for excitement; it was the harvest-time of those birds of prey in saloon and gambling hall.

Hamlin saw all this, but gave the surroundings little thought. He was of the West, of the frontier, and he held nothing unique in the scene. Moreover, the purpose for which he was there overshadowed all else, left him indifferent to the noise, the jostling, drunken crowd. Some he met who knew him and called his name, but he passed them in a word, and pressed his way forward. At the hotel he mounted the steps and entered. The office was in one corner of the bar-room. The proprietor himself, a bald-headed Irishman, sat with feet cocked up on the counter, smoking, and barely glancing up as the Sergeant asked for Mrs. Dupont.

"Who are yer?" he asked.

"My name is Hamlin; I am here on the lady's invitation."

"Sure; the lady's name all right, me boy. Yer ter go out on the east porch there, an' wait a bit while I find her word yer here. O'm imaginin' she hed sum doubts about yer comin', the way she spoke."

"How do I get there?"

"Through the winder of the parlor over thar—sure, it's a noice quiet spot for a tate-a-tate." He got up, and peered through his glasses across the room. "Here, Molke; damn that slayin' bad. Will one o' yer gents wake the lad—that's it. Now come here, Molke. You run over to the Palace an' tell Mrs. Dupont the feller is here waitin'."

Hamlin held on, not so fast; wait till O'm done tellin' yer. Say thet to her alone—do yer mind thet, ye sap-head; nobody else is to hear what yer say; stay there till yer git a chance ter whisper it to her. Now skip."

Hamlin hesitated, watching the boy disappear.

"At the Palace—the dance hall across the street?" he asked incredulously.

"Sure," indifferently, relighting his pipe. "Officers' ball; couldn't break in with a can-opener unless you had a invite. Guards at both ends, sergeant taking tickets, an' Third Regiment Band makin' music. Hell of a swell affair; got guests from Leavenworth, Wallace, and all around. Every room I got is full an' runnin' over—say, there are fellows over thar in them fool swaller-tail coats; damned if there ain't. If the b'ys ever git sight of 'em on the street there'll be a hot time. Say, ain't that the limit? Injuns out thar chuk as flass on a dog, an' them swells dancin' here in swaller-tails like this yer was Boston."

He was still talking when Hamlin crossed the narrow hall and entered the dimly-lighted, unoccupied parlor. The side window was open, a slight breeze rustled the heavy curtain, and the Sergeant stepped outside on to the dark porch. There was a bench close to the rail and he sat down to wait. A gleam of light from the Palace fell across the western end, but the remainder of the porch lay in shadow, although he could look up the street, and see the people jostling back and forth in front of the Poodle Dog. The sound of mingled voices was continuous, occasionally punctuated by laughter, or an unrestrained outburst of profanity. Once shots echoed from out the din, but created no apparent excitement, and a little later a dozen horsemen spurred recklessly through the street, scattering the crowd, their revolvers sputtering. Some altercation arose opposite and a voice called loudly for the guard, but the trouble soon ceased with the clump of hoofs, dying away in the distance, the regimental band noisily blaring out a waltz. Hamlin, immersed in his own thoughts, scarcely observed the turmoil, but leaned, arms on railing, gazing out into the darkness. Something mysterious from out the past had gripped him; he was wondering how he should greet her when she came; speculating on her purpose in sending for him.

It seemed as though he waited a long time before the curtain at the window was thrust aside and the lady emerged, the slight rustling of her dress apprising him of her presence. The curtain still held slightly back by her hand permitted the light from within to reflect over her figure, revealing in softened outline the beauty of her features, the glossy brightness of her hair. She was in evening dress, a light shawl draping her shoulders.

An instant she paused in uncertainty, striving to distinguish his face; then stepped impulsively forward, and held out her hands.

"I have kept you waiting, but you must forgive that, as I came as soon as I could manufacture an excuse. Won't you even shake hands with me?"

"Is it necessary?" he asked, almost wearily. "You have come to me for some purpose surely, but it can hardly be friendship."

"Why should you say that?" reproachfully. "I have deserted a rather brilliant party to meet you here."

"That, perhaps, is why I say it, Mrs. Dupont. If my memory serves, you would not be inclined to leave such friends as you have yonder to rendezvous with a common soldier, unless you had some special object in view. If you will inform me what it is, we can very quickly terminate the interview."

She laughed, a little touch of nervousness in the voice, but drew her skirts aside, and sat down on the bench.

"Do you think you can deceive me by such play-acting?" she asked eagerly. "You are no man of wood. Tell me, is there nothing you care to ask me, after—after all these years?"

Hamlin lifted his eyes and looked at her, stirred into sudden interest by the almost caressing sound of the soft voice.

"Yes," he said slowly, "there are some things I should like to know, if I thought you would answer frankly."

"Try me and see."

"Then why are you Mrs. Dupont, instead of Mrs. Le Fevre?"

"Then my guess is true, and you are not so devoid of curiosity," she laughed. "My answer? Why, it is simplicity itself—because I was never Mrs. Le Fevre, but am rightfully Mrs. Dupont."

"Do you mean you were never married to Le Fevre?"

"What else could I mean?"

"Then he lied."

She shrugged her white shoulders.

"That would not surprise me in the least. 'Twas a characteristic of the man you had ample reason to know."

"Believe? What else could I believe? Everything served to substantiate his boast. I was in disgrace, practically drummed out of camp. There was nothing left for me to live for, or strive for. I was practically dead. Then your letter confessing came."

"Wait," she interrupted, "that letter was untrue, false; it was penned under compulsion. I wrote you again, later, but you had gone, disappeared utterly. I wanted to explain, but your own people even did not know where you were—do not know yet."

He leaned his body against the rail, and looked at her in the dim light. Her face retained much of its girlish attractiveness, yet its undoubted charms no longer held the man captive. He smiled coldly.

"The explanation comes somewhat late," he replied deliberately. "When it might have served me it was not offered—indeed, you had conveniently disappeared. But I am not here to criticize; that is all over with, practically forgotten. I came at your request, and presume you had a reason. May I again ask what it was?"

BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS

IF CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, HEAD-ACHE, STOMACH SOUR, GET A 10 CENT BOX OF CASCARETS—TAKE ONE TONIGHT.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermented food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

REFUSED TO BE BOSSED

One of Gov. Wilson's Stenographer's Quits in Rage.

Miss Salome Tarr Resents Attitude of Charley Swem Toward Her and Her Work.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 15.—Miss Salome Tarr, one of the best of President-elect Wilson's stenographers, quit her job because, she said, Charley Swem, who is the president-elect's personal stenographer, tried to boss her. Miss Tarr had just finished taking dictation in the state house from Joseph Tumulty, the governor's secretary, and had gone across the street to the president-elect's personal headquarters to transcribe her notes when Swem, who is only nineteen years old, "botted in," she says. It is understood there has been some jealousy between Swem and Miss Tarr. Swem is the third fastest stenographer in the world and Miss Tarr ranks fourth or fifth, and has a lot of medals and diplomas for accuracy, to boot. So when Swem told Salome to hurry through her work she wanted to know what business it was of his. One word followed another, according to the description by the rest of the staff, and Salome jumped up out of her chair, tore up her stenographic book containing Mr. Tumulty's precious notes and stamped out of the office. Word was at once dispatched to Secretary Tumulty and Warren Johnson and May Havens, two other members of the stenographic staff, were sent as a committee to overtake the speeding Salome and bring her back. They found her at the Pennsylvania railroad station, where she had gone to take a train for Jersey City, her home. She refused to return.

She refused to return.

She refused to return.

KILLED IN PISTOL DUEL

Steamboat Captain Shoots Deputy Sheriff to Death in Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 15.—In a sensational duel on one of the most prominent streets of the city, while the sidewalks were filled with shoppers returning to their homes, Capt. T. M. Taggart, on of the best known steamboat men on the Cumberland river, shot and killed T. R. Westbrook, a deputy sheriff. Bad blood, it is claimed, has existed between the two, dating from Westbrook's discharge as a pilot by Captain Taggart a number of years ago.

RAPS ALDRICH'S CURRENCY PLAN

Chairman of House Banking Committee Says It Will Not Be Adopted.

FESTUS J. WADE FAVORS IDEA

Witness, Member of American Banking Association, Eulogizes the Central Bank Feature of the Ex-Senator's Proposition.

Washington, Jan. 15.—That witnesses interested in currency may as well cease their advocacy of the Aldrich currency plan was the notice served by Chairman Glass of the subcommittee on banking and currency of the house, which soon will report a currency bill.

Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, a member of the American Banking association, was a witness before the committee, and launched upon an eulogy of the central bank feature of the Aldrich plan. He was interrupted by Chairman Glass, who reminded him that the Baltimore platform had disposed of that matter.

"I think Democratic opposition to a central bank is more or less sentimental," said Wade.

Chairman Glass smiled and replied: "Aldrich Plan Is Opposed."

"Whether it is sentiment or the ghost of Andrew Jackson or what not, there is insuperable opposition in the way of adoption of the Aldrich plan by this committee or the Democrats."

Mr. Wade was asked if he could not suggest some other scheme of currency reform. He replied that he had been so busy considering the Aldrich plan, which he regarded as the best ever conceived, that he had had little time to think of any substitute.

Chairman Glass then asked him what objection he would have to a system of reserve banks with some sort of supervisory body over them, but without a general central bank. Mr. Wade stuck to his opinion that no currency reform would work satisfactorily unless the Aldrich central bank idea was approved.

Urges Specific Duties.

Aluminum, steel, watch movements and machine tools were on the program of the house committee on ways and means when it met to hear left-over witnesses who were unable to testify at the iron and steel hearing last week.

W. H. Donnor of Pittsburg, president of the Cambria Steel company, set forth that that company owned properties worth $75,000,000 and employed 19,000 men, manufacturing last year more than a million tons of rails, structural bars, rods and wire nails, and urged specific and not ad valorem duties on iron and steel products.

Waltham Watch Man Testifies.

The Waltham Watch company, alleged to be in "the watch trust," was probed at the outset. E. C. Fitch of Waltham, Mass., testified that the company could manufacture watch dials cheaper than he could buy them abroad, said the Waltham Watch company was originally capitalized at $5,000,000 and that it had reorganized with a capitalization of $12,000,000, tangible assets of $9,022,000, and patents and good will worth $2,975,000.

The witness told of the former existence of a selling agency that handled the Waltham Watch company products. He said he was one of three partners in the selling agency, each of whom received $60,000 a year salary.

"Don't you compel wholesalers to sell at a certain price to retailers?" asked Representative Rainey.

"Try to, but don't always succeed."

Cough, Cold Sore Throat

Sloan's Liniment gives quick relief for cough, cold, hoarseness, sore throat, croup, asthma, hay fever and bronchitis.

HERE'S PROOF.
MR. ALBERT W. PRICE, of Fredonia, Kan., writes: "We use Sloan's Liniment in the family and find it an excellent relief for colds and hay fever attacks. It stops coughing and sneezing almost instantly."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

RELIEVED SORE THROAT.
Mrs. L. BREWER, of Modesto, Fla., writes: "I bought one bottle of your Liniment and it did me all the good in the world. My throat was very sore, and it cured me of my trouble."

GOOD FOR COLD AND CROUP.
MR. W. H. STRANGE, 3721 Elmwood Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "A little boy next door had croup. I gave the mother Sloan's Liniment to try. She gave him three drops on sugar before going to bed, and he got up without the croup in the morning."

PUJO WITNESS IS FOUND IN CANADA

Miss Katherine I. Harrison Lo-cated in Montreal by Post Cards.

ROGERS' PRIVATE SECRETARY

Committee Wants Her to Tell Them Some of the Standard Oil Secrets She Accumulated in Twenty-Five Years Service.

Washington, Jan. 15.—G rge W. Perkins will be the chief witness before the money trust committee to-day. The session will begin with the calling of Dr. Richardson, the medical expert of the committee, who went to Miami to examine William Rockefeller. It is possible that H. P. Davidson, managing partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., will also be called.

New York, Jan. 15.—Miss Katherine I. Harrison, who is wanted by the Pujo committee to tell them some of the Standard Oil secrets she accumulated during the 25 years that she was private secretary to the late Henry H. Rogers, is in Montreal.

At least she was in Montreal on Sunday. On that day she mailed several post cards, showing views of that city, to friends in Brooklyn. One was received by her sister, Miss Sarah Harrison, and another was sent to Miss Harrison's aunt, a Mrs. Papps.

FOR KEEPING CROCHET WORK

Little Bag That is Almost a Necessity
When One is Fond of That Pastime.

A little bag is so useful for keeping crochet or knitting in, as the work keeps so much cleaner than if left lying about as it is.

A very dainty little bag for the purpose can be made from a mercerized handkerchief with a colored border, which may be bought for a few cents.

Very little else is required, only just a little white tape, two pieces of whalebone and a little baby ribbon.

To make the bag, lay the handkerchief out flat, and along the top and bottom of it, an inch from the border, run a piece of tape, as a slot for the whalebone to go through.

Now fold the handkerchief exactly in two, and seam up the side to where the tape ends.

The whalebones must not be long as the tape, but the ends of the whalebone must be fastened under ends of the tape, when the handkerchief will look as if slightly gathered. That is all there is to do, except that it needs two little loops of baby ribbon, one on the center of each side. These form the handles.

How can be added to the corners.

JEWELS ON DANCING SHOES

Latest Idea is About as Far as the Present Day Extravagance
Can Go.

The whole gamut of brilliance and magnificence has been rung so far as dresses themselves are concerned, and smart women have been forced to set up a rivalry in dancing shoes, which are studded all over with jewels, even to the heels. The stockings must be embroidered to match the design on the shoes. Perhaps the stockings themselves, before long, will be embroidered with diamonds and pearls and rubies.

For those who wish to copy this fashion it may be interesting to point out that it is not absolutely necessary to have the jewels embroidered directly onto the shoes. Buckles may be used. So long as the value of the shoes and stockings is unmistakably high the necessary result has been achieved.

But, of course, it is one degree more lavish to have the stones actually embroidered into the slippers. This method carries with it a very desirable suggestion that, of course, when the shoes are thrown away the jewels will be thrown with them.

John Blitz and H. Brookner of Morrison were here today enroute to Ottawa to attend the State ifremen's convention.

Ads. as Reputation Props

Let us build you an inch
ad. in this paper; a column ad., a page ad., or any old size ad.

Let it tell in forceful terms:
What you've got to sell
What it's worth
Why it's best at that price

Such an advertisement in this paper will bring buyers who hardly knew you existed before you advertised.
